FOREWORD

Mrs. Ethel Farrington Smith of Hull, Massachusetts, and Boynton Beach, Florida, established the Farrington Fund at the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1985. The purpose of this fund is the overall promotion, via acquisitions, publications and educational programs, of New Hampshire genealogy. We are grateful to Mrs. Smith and the New England Historic Genealogical Society for selecting Vital Records of Hampton, New Hampshire, to the End of the Year 1900, on which we have worked for several years, to be the first publication underwritten by the Farrington Fund.

The desirability of a published version of the vital records of New Hampshire has long been evident. We hope that these volumes will not only inaugurate such a project, but will also set a standard for such work that will include both public records kept by the towns, and the invaluable privately-kept records which survive. Our original desire to transcribe and publish the ancient records of Hampton's Congregational Church soon evolved to include all vital data which could be found for the town, except those contained in newspapers. Undoubtedly, more records exist in private hands; we hope these will be brought to our attention, even after these volumes are published. Volume II of this publication will contain church, cemetery and private records.

We wish to thank Mrs. Laura MacLean of Hampton for her enthusiastic help in gaining access to both the town records and the records of the Congregational Church, and for her help in obtaining permission from the church to have their records microfilmed. Mrs. Jane Kelley, Town Clerk of Hampton, has been most supportive of this project. Alicia Crane Williams of Williams Word Processing has been very patient with us throughout this process, and Ruth Wilder Sherman, F.A.S.G., of Warwick, R.I., has contributed many helpful suggestions. To Ruth and Lowell Sanborn, descendants of Hampton's founding families, go our great appreciation for their belief that what was taking so much of their parents' time must be important.

INTRODUCTION TO VOLUME I

Historical Background

Hampton, New Hampshire, first called Winnacunnet, was settled in 1638 by the Reverend Stephen Bachiler (ca. 1561-1656) and a small group of followers from Newbury, Massachusetts. While settlement had commenced in the summer of that year, the church was dedicated by Mr. Bachiler on 14 October 1638, the date usually considered as the beginning of the town. But the grant from the government of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay (which exercised control over the area at the time), was given on 6 June 1639, when Hampton was "allowed to be a town and hath power to choose a constable and other officers." Thus, the town of Hampton officially dates from 1639.

As one of the four original towns in New Hampshire, Hampton's territory was vast. Originally a part of (old) Norfolk County in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay (that is, all of Massachusetts' territory north of the Merrimack River), Hampton and the other towns presently in New Hampshire were erected into the Province of New Hampshire in 1677, and the new province functioned without counties until 1771.

From 10 May 1643 to 22 January 1679/80, Hampton residents appeared in the records of (old) Norfolk County and in the "Ipswich deeds," both series now kept in the Essex County, Massachusetts, Registry of Deeds. Records, including vital records, pertaining to families on both sides of the shifting "Province Line," may be found on either side of that line in town records, New Hampshire "Province" records, and Essex County records, as well as in the (old) Norfolk County records and the "Ipswich deeds.".

Hampton served as one of the four sites for the early Essex Quarterly Courts, an indication of its importance. The well-known Weare, Gookin, Cotton and Lane families were part of the early town, and Hampton attracted well-educated, useful men such as Roger Shaw of Cambridge.

Division of Towns

The original Hampton grant included the present-day towns of Hampton (1639), a small part of Rye (1726), Hampton Falls (1726), Kensington (1737), North Hampton (1742), and Seabrook (1768). Also included was the area of the present towns of Kingston, East Kingston, Danville and the easternmost part of Sandown. At the time of this grant, only some of these latter towns had actual settlements; consequently, no vital records were generated in many of these areas in the period of the first grant. Only the town records currently in the hands of the Hampton town clerk are here transcribed as town records. Records antedating the separation of Hampton's "daughter towns," but recorded in the books of those several towns, are not included here, nor are events which may have occurred in Hampton but were retrospectively recorded in other towns. Those must be sought individually.

Settlement Patterns and Characteristics of the Inhabitants

Hampton was settled almost exclusively by people from eastern and southern England who had come to the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Following the group from Newbury, came settlers from Watertown and Dedham. The Dedham connection, probably based on presently unknown family relationships, is particularly intriguing.

Early mercantile interests existed between Hampton and Virginia's eastern shore, as well as Currituck in present-day North Carolina. Fishing trips to Labrador, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick are known to have occurred regularly from the eighteenth-century onward, producing trade between Hampton and that region. Quaker preachers, travelling Shakers and "New Light" missionaries from as far as Pennsylvania, New York, and Nova Scotia are known to have pierced the Hampton air with new thoughts on the order of life and the hereafter. There are no known intermarriages between Native Americans and the European settlers, and appearances in Hampton of people of African-American descent were quite rare.

While large numbers of people moved away from Hampton to settle other areas in New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, and further west, it was not until well after the Revolution that an influx of new families came into the town. Aside from the occassional appearance of a family from southern Maine or Massachusetts, Canadian Maritimers and French Canadians were the first discernible immigrant group, followed by others in the present century.

From an early date, records of marriages of Massachusetts Bay Colony inhabitants, including people from Boston and southeastern Massachusetts, appear in the Hampton town records. Whether these marriages were elopements, or resulted from connections to the religious or trade affiliations between the two areas, is unclear.

Peculiarities of the Records

The town records are unusually complete for the early period, showing land grants and regular town meeting business. These records have proven to be a rich source for researchers, including English scholars now studying early Hampton patterns of land use.

The burning of the library of Rev. Stephen Bachiler circa 1644-1645 was a tremendous loss, not only to Mr. Bachiler, but also to New Hampshire scholarship. Along with his theological books and writings, no doubt his letter-books and the early records of his several churches were lost to us forever.

There are a significant number of discrepancies in dates presented here compared to those reported in History of the Town of Hampton, New Hampshire, by Joseph Dow (Salem, Mass: Lucy E. Dow, 1893 [reprinted Somersworth, N.H., 1970], 1104 pp., indexed), and in The Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New Hampshire by Sibyl Noyes, Charles Thornton Libby, and Walter Goodwin Davis (Portland, Me.: The Anthoensen Press, 1928-1939 [reprinted Baltimore, Md., 1983], 795 pp.), the two standard reference works used by genealogists and students of Hampton families everywhere. People are advised to re-check their research against the present volumes.

Thanks to the interest in genealogy shown by six generations of perennial Hampton Town Clerks in the Dow family, there are a numerous and sometimes confusing array of copies of the Hampton Vital Records in existence today. Josiah[6] Dow, who served as Town Clerk from 1837 to 1854, a brother of the author of the town's published history, was a tireless recorder and was descended from and related to a great number of the families in the town.

A substantial number of the early town records are written in a variety of hands, while later records are kept in a single hand, indicating that the latter were copies not kept contemporaneously. The "original" of volume III, at least, is obviously an old copy, perhaps written in the eighteenth-century. It appears to have been copied in chunks at different times in different hands, from what must have been the original records, now gone. The copies of entries in a sequence, which are not chronological, seem to have retained the spelling and punctuation of the supposed originals.

Many of the earliest records were damaged long before they were microfilmed, and even before Josiah and Joseph Dow took an interest in them. Pages are worn away and in some cases appear to have been gnawed by rodents or damaged by damp. A number of entries are gone forever, and have been indicated here "[torn]," if partially lost, or "[entry lost]," if gone entirely. The present Town Clerk, Mrs. Jane Kelley, has shown great concern for these records and has recently had them professionally conserved and beautifully rebound.

It should be assumed that all original civil records transcribed here are in the custody of the Hampton Town Clerk, unless otherwise stated. Published Town Reports began in 1883 for the year 1882, but these annual publications do not contain vital events until 1890, for the year 1889. From that year forward, the town reports have different and frequently more information than the Town Clerk's books.

It should also be noted that we have not attempted to search any of the records on file at the Bureau of Vital Records and Health Statistics in Concord to see whether there are any discrepancies between the State's copy of any of these records and the Town's copy reproduced here. The version in Concord is supposed to be a faithful copy of that information on file in the town records, though differences are sometimes found. Because the records are interfiled for the entire state in Concord, such an attempt at complete comparison would be virtually impossible.

Towns in (old) Norfolk County, Massachusetts, sent vital records to the county court for recording. These often differ in detail from those recorded locally, or fill in gaps in the local records. An excellent, verbatim copy of the (old) Norfolk County records was made in the late 1800s, to which most of the transcription here was compared. The original records are in the Registry of Deeds for Essex County in Salem, Massachusetts.

Transcriptional Details

This work has not been typeset. Transcription began in 1986 and the evolution of desktop publishing since then has reached standards nearly as high as typesetting. However, the limitations of that early technology and our skill in using it, are reflected in these pages.

As the work progressed, we made a number of editorial decisions: we have usually ignored "=," as well as long dashes (particularly terminal ones), of which there were many, such as, "born y^{e} 12th day of August ——— 1692." The letter "ff" has been rendered as "F," and the quaint way of representing a double "s" has been handled in the modern way. We have ignored horizontal lines indicating nasality and double nasal consonants (i.e. straight lines over the letters "a," "o," "m" or "n," as in mo, comon, Hanah and Abraha). Old Style double dates are expressed with a slash mark, such as 1691/2, although they are often given as fractions in the original record. The ornate capital "P" used for "per," is spelled out.

Otherwise, we believe these transcriptions to be faithful in every respect to the original records. Whenever there was any serious doubt or inability to decipher a name or date, we have replaced the same with the word [illegible] rather than making guesses. Instances where we felt compelled to do so have fortunately been rare.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 1

Very few vital records appear in this volume, which consists primarily of land grants and town business. All the vital records in this book are baptisms, presumably performed by Rev. Stephen Bachiler, some taking place in other Massachusetts towns, before the settlement of Hampton. They are all in one hand and were copied into the book at the same time from some earlier record.

The pages at the beginning and the end of this book have suffered greatly from dampness and are nearly illegible. Large chunks of some pages are missing.

The page numbers cited here are those on which the original pages were mounted in an early attempt at preserving the book.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 2

Of the surviving Town Record volumes, Book No. 2 has sustained the greatest damage and the greatest number of lost records. Badly deteriorated in sections, the right side of most of the early pages is completely gone, and has been since well before the middle of the nineteenth-century, when an attempt was made to reconstruct the missing entries. Four such reconstructions have been compared here to the original and where more data was found in the reconstructions, these additions are included in brackets, followed by a superscript number, indicating one of the four following sources:

1. Josiah Dow's 1849 copy, New England Historic Genealogical Society, Mss C 1625
2. Addendum to Josiah Dow's 1849 copy, p. 202 "Some additional births omitted by the town Clerk on account of their being torn - The names and dates included in brackets obtained from some records at Concord, supply two of these blanks. The names and dates not included in Brackets were furnished me by Joseph Dow of Hampton Asa W. Brown"
3. Further notes to Josiah Dow's 1849 copy, "The following have been mostly from conjecture alone and no doubt are more or less incorrect. Asa W. Brown"
4. Undated manuscript copy of town records by Josiah Dow, in the possession of the Hampton Town Clerk.

The entries appear to have been made contemporaneously. A line was drawn down the center of each page and the records were made in two rows, and boxed in with horizontal lines at the end of each entry. Occasionally a family group of two or three records will occur in one box. We have not tried to represent the boxes, or indicate where more than one event occurs within a box; however, the relationship between successive records is usually quite obvious from the content. There are many instances where several children in a family are recorded together successively. This, and the fact that entries are not in chronological order, while they are in a uniform hand, demonstrate that this book, although very old, is evidently a later copy into which original records were transcribed from earlier books or papers, now gone.

Many interesting things appear in this book. A large number of people were baptized on 10 April 1692, as was noted after the record of their births. At this time, Hampton had no settled minister. Evidently these baptisms, performed by a visiting clergyman, were thus recorded since there was no one to keep the church books.

On page 304 of this town book, we find the first instance of a double forename when the birth of Jonathan Gove Cass was recorded. Readers will see the frequent, interlined message stating that the foregoing record(s) had been "returned to the clerk." Too late for the Clerk of the (old) Norfolk County, it may possibly mean that the records were brought to the Hampton Town Clerk by a third party.

The page numbers we have used are those on which the original pages were mounted in an early attempt at preserving the book.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 3

Like Book No. 2, entries in Book No. 3 are apparently contemporary, and are presented in two boxed rows per page. Many entries were made in a tiny, cramped hand. Some family records are found together, but most entries are scattered and not chronological. We have not tried to reproduce the boxes drawn around entries, as those setting off more than one event always referred to siblings, which fact is evident by their being recorded in succession.

Middle names appear in the time period covered by this volume, but the Town Clerk ran the first two names together into one long word. In later years, the middle names were hyphenated, and then finally presented in the modern manner. Spelling was often phonetic, and the gentle accent can almost be "heard" in these pages.

At some time in the past, the ragged edges were neatly trimmed from the top to the bottom of the page, and, in the process, a few terminal letters and digits were, unfortunately, cut off.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 4

Book No. 4 has comparatively few vital record entries, being mostly concerned with town governmental matters. The vital records are presented in two styles, a continuation of the two boxed rows seen in earlier volumes, and a single entry style with horizontal lines separating each down the page.

No meaningful chronology is seen here, and many different hands are represented. A significant number of entries pertain to people who were not residents of Hampton.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 6

Large sections of this book were copied at the same time in the same hand (probably Josiah Dow's), evidently from an earlier record, which does not survive. Family groups were often recorded in these pages years after the events, in the same hand.

Marriages of persons from distant towns are found here, suggesting, in many cases, that they may have come from Hampton or had relatives residing there.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 10

Book No. 10 is unpaginated, but chronologically covers the years 1850 through 1878 on pre-printed forms. Birth records in this volume rarely show the child's name, since it was customary to select a name weeks or even months after the birth. The mother's maiden name is rarely given.

Many people who married in Hampton in this period were from Massachusetts. There are very few death records, and there were only three births recorded from 1861 through 1875, showing that, as in much of the rest of the state, for some reason large numbers of these events went unrecorded.

The preprinted forms, which stretched across two pages for each entry, presented an enormous transcription problem, necessitating the more compact format used here. Ditto marks and "Do" could not be used in this new format, so the words in question are spelled out again. Extraneous punctuation was omitted and modernized where inconsistent in the original. The original spelling of names has been preserved. All individuals were reported as white.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 11

Book No. 11 is also unpaginated, and chronologically covers a clearly defined span of years, 1858 through 1869. Separate pre-printed forms for marriages, births, and deaths are presented in this ledger book. Once again, very few children were named at birth.

Like Book No. 10, a compact format was used to transcribe these entries, which stretch across two pages in the original.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 12

Book No. 12 covers the years 1877 through 1897 and is mostly unpaginated. The pre-printed pages have columns for each entry across two pages, as in Books 10 and 11, and a compact format was used to transcribe these entries in an efficient manner. All births were live, white, and in Hampton, unless stated otherwise. All locations should be understood to be in New Hampshire unless stated otherwise and all deaths occurred in Hampton unless another place is specifically given.

In this period, when first names were added to birth records later in another hand, they were often misspelled or at odds with the sex of the child. The Town Clerk, John Akerman, wrote a sprawling, non-standard backhand script, which was often difficult to read. The pages for each year were written all at one sitting, from the consistent nature of the ink and style. That the copying was done in a hurry, is evident from his habits of abbreviating, using dittos, and entering the place of parents' residence once in large letters across the center of the two columns. Many errors were introduced in this copying, as is seen for the period 1879-1880 when a duplicate set of records, perhaps written earlier, were tipped into the book, showing many variations in information.

Certified copies of a few late recorded births had been tucked into this volume. Marriage intentions were mentioned only if they were made on a day other than the day of marriage.

Vital events for Canadians in Hampton were seen for the first time in this volume.

The first Hampton Town Report containing vital records was issued for 1889. These records were compared to the Town Book for that year and all subsequent years through 1897, and discrepancies and additional material have been added in italics. In the Town Book, the death records showed the residences of parents, but the Town Reports gave their birthplaces, not residences. We suspect that birthplaces were intended in both cases, despite the column heading in the original.

Introduction to Hampton Town Book No. 13

Book No. 13 covers the period 10 January 1898 through 12 November 1918 in chronological order for marriages, births and deaths. Transcription here ends with the year 1900.

Preprinted forms used in this volume are identical to the style formerly used on cards by the Bureau of Vital Records and Health Statistics in Concord. Residences and the place of birth are understood to be Hampton, unless stated otherwise. Marriage intentions are not mentioned if they occurred on the same day as the marriage.

In the marriage records, it is not clear whether the presentation of the parents' residences may offer a clue to whether they are living or dead at the time their children married. Occassionally, a residence is given for only one parent.

The entries from this book were compared through 1900 with the published Town Reports and discrepancies are noted in italics.

Introduction to
Record of Certificates of Marriges [sic] issued by Town Clerk
1854-1867

This odd item is an unnumbered volume found in the Town Clerk's safe. It was not microfilmed in the original Genealogical Society of Utah filming, although the information is not redundant with that found in the numbered volumes. Marriages for 1868 are also included in this book, despite the title.

An unpaginated ledger book, it contains no other town business. It was most likely copied all at one time, and not kept contemporaneously.

Introduction to Old Norfolk County Records

Each of the towns in Old Norfolk County, from 1643 through 1679/80, were required to report births, marriages and deaths to the County Clerk. The records consist of four full volumes and are currently held at the Essex County Registry of Deeds in Salem, Massachusetts.

The Essex County Commissioners caused a copy to be made by David Pulsifer in 1852, and this copy is also kept at the Essex County Registry of Deeds.

The original books contain deeds, as well as vital records, and the handwritten copy by Mr. Pulsifer appears to be a precise and true transcription.

Introduction to Census Mortality Schedules

A special record was required by the Federal government for all persons who died in the twelve months previous to the official census date. Thus, persons who died between 1 June 1849 and 31 May 1850, and in the subsequent census years of 1859-60, 1869-70, and 1879-80, were reported on the Mortality Schedules.

These records are taken from the State Copy of the Federal Mortality Schedules, presently located at the Division of Records Management and Archives in Concord, New Hampshire.

Introduction to
Marriages from Court Records in New Hampshire Province Deeds

The following marriage records are found in Volume A of the New Hampshire Province Deeds (1673-1681). These marriages, all performed by Samuel Dalton, of Hampton, Marriage Commissioner, were previously published verbatim in New Hampshire Court Records 1640-1692; Court Papers 1652-1668, Otis G. Hammond, ed. (Concord, N.H.: State of New Hampshire, 1943 [Volume 40 of the New Hampshire State Papers Series]). They are repeated here in the interest of completeness.

The marriages presumably occurred at Mr. Dalton's home in Hampton. The page numbers cited are to the published version (supra).
